Are you looking for inspiration? Searching for words to say? Here are a few words to remind you of the fun you had during your clubhouse visit. Do you remember where you saw these, on the Shelf, in the Activity Room, in the Closet or the Loft? Which other words from there would you include, if you made a similar puzzle? Search for the words up, down, left, right, and at diagonal angles. If you need to, you can look at the solution. Word search puzzles can be challenging. But searching for places and ways to tell stories, that's easy! Your everyday life holds many opportunities to tell, and your own life experiences often create the best stories. Now that you know what to look for, maybe you can tell a story today!

But if you get stuck in the middle and can't find a few words, here's the puzzle completely solved.

And if you ever get stuck in the middle of a story and are looking for a solution, you'll find those answers by going back to the beginning of your story. Learn more about the story problem, ask your character what the problem is, see how you can help him or her. Then the ending becomes obvious.

And anytime you are searching for the right words to say, you can visit our clubhouse for more storytelling advice, ideas, and inspiration.
